C 1-1-1

in the life of a school is not an easy task.

Despite the best intentions of everyone involved, there are sometimes gaps. We inevitably ask ourselves, why was this event or that moment chosen, or why was that smile or that goofy antic left out?

As editors of the 2008-2009 Corric, we have worked to fit the ocean that was this past academic year into the bottle that is a yearbook. We hope we have captured some, if not most, of the memorable moments of the past year, and that your memory will kindly fill in any perceived missing pieces. Enjoy.

are the lifeblood of any school, they cannot do it alone. Members of Sacred Heart's faculty, staff, and administration work closely with students, both in and out of the classroom. They work to prepare them, not only for what they face inside the walls of Sacred Heart, but in the world as well.

The Class of 2009 celebrated numerous achievements during their four years, but their final year at Sacred Heart was by far the most accomplished. From sports victories to speech tournaments to academic prowess, this class took advantage of all the school has to offer.

Thank you to all those people who have touched my life in the past four years. Mom and Dad, thanks for always pushing me to be the best person I could be, and never letting me settle. Stevie, thank you for being a wonderful role model, you are stronger than I could ever hope to be. Caroline, thanks for making me laugh. You have an amazing personality that many envy, you're my best friend, and you are always there for me. To my friends, you have made my high school experience amazing, I love you all SOOO MUCH! Class of '09, best of luck!

I came to Sacred Heart four years ago not knowing if I would learn anything, make any friends, or have any fun. Luckily, those fears were unnecessary. These past four years I learned quite a lot, made a few friends, and had an amazing experience along the way. Mom and Dad, thank you for all of your support. Youssef and Allen, you're the two best brothers anyone could ask for. Renee and Holly, you're my two favorite girls, and Adam, you're an awesome little brother and one of my best friends, have fun next year. Finally, to all of my friends, thank you for everything and goo luck in whatever the future brings.

I would like to thank my friends and parents for supporting me through these awesome years at Sacred Heart. As a lifer, I am grateful for having had the privilege to go to Sacred Heart. During the course of the summer and my senior year, I have been thinking about all the things our class has been through. The lot of us have known each other for twelve years. I have realized that our time together is coming to an end, and the more I think about it, the more I'm really going to miss this place and everyone that has made my time here so special.

Looking back through the years of high school I remember waiting for senior year and graduation day to come. Now that it's here, I know I'm going to miss Sacred Heart. I would like to thank everyone who made high school amazing-my parents, who supported me through everything; my friends Michelle, Dan, and Meg, with whom I shared some of my most memorable times; the teachers who inspired/influenced me, and everyone who has made an impact on my high school experience. An extra thanks to Michelle for giving me excuses to eat cake, and to Meg for supplying us with a never-ending supply of quotes.

I would like to thank family, friends, and strangers for everything they've done. School has taught me lessons that I'll never forget, like how to become dependent on teachers, reliant on additional time for homework, and desperate for the scaling of grades.

I don't want to brag for my high diction, so I'll accredit my English teachers for this usage of perpendicularism. Saying this school teached me goodly would be an understatement. I've been in more math clubs than I can count, and Spanish class has allowed me to converse not only with English-speaking Americans, but also bilingual Spaniards.

I would like to thank all of my teachers, friends, and family members for keeping faith in me and holding me up on their shoulders these past four years. This has been an amazing experience and I can't believe that it has finally come to an end. Good luck to the future graduates of Sacred Heart!

"The world is like a ride in an amusement park, and when you choose to go on it, you think it's real because that's how powerful our minds are. And the ride goes up and down and round and round and it has thrills and chills and it's very brightly colored and it's very loud. It's very fun, for a while. Some people have been on the ride for a while and they begin to question, Is this real, or is it just a ride? It doesn't matter because its just a ride, and we can change it any time we want. It's only a choice, no effort, no work, no job, no savings and money. A choice right now, between fear, and love."

First off, I have at least a dozen teachers to thank for accepting work late. I also am indebted to them for teaching me much of what I know about unrelenting, candid honesty. I owe my mother for enduring an hour and a half of commuting to and from the school with me every day- and all of my family. I also was fortunate to have a few truly great friends who stood by me through four years of eccentricity, who will all go on to live insanely brilliant lives, and whom I fully expect to let me sleep on their couch some day. High school is probably the most exciting, scariest, craziest, most dramatic place you will ever go to. My Sacred Heart High School experience has truly been one of a kind. I've had a lot of those "I-hate-my-life" moments here, but then again the "this-is-the-best-night-ever" moments cancel them all out. I couldn't have done it without the help of my personal trio of Liz Howie, Zachary Mello, and my mom. Thank you to all the teachers and faculty who have helped me through. I am ever so appreciative.

I want to say thank you to my dad, for being an insanely great role model and always being there, and to my mother, for being the hardest working person I know. I love you both. In fact, I have nothing but love for most everyone I've met here in high school. As we all move forward in life, I know I will never forget the times I had with the friends I made at SH. New experiences and different places will come our way, and if you ever need a friend, you just give me a call. It's the least I could do for anyone after all I've been given these last four years. Also my teachers for helping me prepare for college. Next I want to thank my friends for, well, being my friends and making these years bearable. And for anyone not mentioned personally that thinks they are important:

Thanks

"It's like in the great stories, Mr. Frodo, the ones that really mattered. Full of darkness and danger they were. 'Cause sometimes you didn't want to know the end because how could the end be happy? How can the world go back to the way it was when so much bad had happened? But in the end it's only a passing thing. A shadow, even darkness, must pass. A new day will come and when the sun shines it will shine out the clearer. Those were the stories that stayed with you, that meant something even if you were too small to understand why. But I think Mr. Frodo, I do understand. I know now. Folks in those stories had lots of chances in turning back only they didn't. They kept going because they were holding onto to something."

"What are we holding onto, Sam?"

Thanks everybody.

think of all the things that are wrong with your life and then fix them think of all the things that you love about your life, be thankful you are blessed with them
think of all the things that hold you back and realize that you don't need them think of all the mistakes you have made in your life,
make sure that you never repeat them

-Paul Baribeau

I shall be as the others around me: a face surrounded by words. I will grow brittle and yellowed on some shelf and one day read this. To that man I say:

Stay true and fast, remember how small you are behind your ideas.

Remember to be kind, to love, to strive for peace, to live with reverence and joy. To the student who reads this years from now: aim high, involve others, and make something beautiful, be decisive, be excellent. Now put this book down and love the world, you will never be alone.

"If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be.

Now put the foundations under them."

First and foremost I would like to thank the two most important people who have supported me throughout my academic career, of course, my parents. Mom and Dad, even though I don't always show it, I am deeply grateful for everything you have done for me. To my friends, you all are the best and I couldnt have asked for better. To my volleyball sisters, I love you all and can't wait to see what you accomplish next season! Finally, to everyone I've met here at SH, thank you for making it a ride worth remembering.

As we embark on a new journey life has thrown at us it's important to remember that it's only a transition. Over the past for years we have all grown to find out who we really are, and have been well prepared for this transition. I would like to thank all the Sacred Heart faculty and staff for helping us along this journey. I would also like to thank my mom who brought me to school on the first day of preschool, and who I'm sure will be watching me as a receive my diploma at graduation. Thanks mom. Meg, Caulin, Stef, Danielle, Alexandra, Devon, and everyone else, thank you all for the past four years, you've made them awesome. Best of luck 2009.

To my parents, I can't describe what your love and support means to me. Thank you so much for everything. Mom, I want you to know that I feel so privileged to have you. Dot, you've been more to me than I could have ever asked for. Patrick, I love you so much. I'm going to miss you more than you know. I want to thank the Sacred Heart community for welcoming and accepting me. Thank you to my friends back home, at Sacred Heart, and away at school. My Sacred Heart girls, thank you for everything. I love yall. Remember to keep it classy. To my friends in the Class of 2008, I miss you and love you. Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Slavin, you both are amazing teachers and even better people. Thank you for the impact you have made on me. I wish you all peace, happiness, and success.

I would like to thank everyone who helped make high school four years which I will never forget. Mom and Dad, thank you for always being there and supporting me, you both mean so much to me. Brittany, you were right when you told me that high school would fly by, but I took your advice and cherished every moment I possibly could, thank you. To all my friends, inside and outside of school, thank you for being there when I had no one else to turn to, the memories will never fade away. Allie, you are the one person who turned high school around for me and taught me so much, thank you for always caring, love always, Crumbles.

Goodbye elementary school and junior high and high school and kindergarten. It's all been one heck of an experience, and it's sort of too bad that whole part of my life is over, but there is a lot left of life waiting ahead and I'm gonna live it well. To my family-I love you, thanking you won't do justice to what you've done for me. And to everyone else, you've all taught me something without even knowing it, and I thank you for that, too. I'll see you in the jungle.

You made it!
Congratulations. I am so proud of you. You are my beautiful daughter and also my friend, which is a very rare combination. I can't wait to see what's in store for you. I know you will do great things.
Love, Mama

Kirsten,
Ever since we were young I always looked up to you. It didn't matter if you were doing something weird, I always wanted to be like you and do what you did. You've always been a great sister and whenever I need anything, I can always count on you. Now you're on your way to college, and guess what? I

Ali, Our Superstar,

While we fondly remember you as a football nose guard in Pop Warner and an outstanding basketball and softball player at SHHS, we are proudest of your becoming a beautiful young lady with a beautiful smile. As you step forward into this new passage of your life, your days at Sacred Heart will serve you well. Success is yours to achieve.

We love you, Dad, Mom, Casey, Jess, and Nomar

From the first glimpse of you on ultrasound;

From the first time we held you in our arms;

From your first wave goodbye at the start of kindergarten (still recovering);

From the first eighteen years of your life feeling like 18 seconds;

We remain astounded and completely in love with the graceful young woman standing before us today.

Sarah Cirone

Dearest Sarah,

You are our gift from God. A ray of light, joy, and energy to all you meet. Your love and caring for us and your family has been a blessing. Your zest for life and quest for knowledge has always astounded us. We know as you continue through life, you will touch and inspire the lives of many others.

We have always believed that our lives would be a success if we were able to contribute a person to this world who makes it a better place. By that measure, we have succeeded in spades!

Congratulations to our Sarah. May God continue to hold, bless, and guide you on your journey. We thank you for all the joy you have brought to our lives, for without you, it would have been pretty boring!

All our love,

Mom and Dad

Craig Rumble

Thank you for making me proud to say, this is Craig Rumble, my son. From scoring your first goal on the ice to exceeding any goal a mom could want for her son, you have matured into a wonderful, kind, respectful young man. I know you will succeed, because you have already succeeded in my eyes. Now I introduce my son to the world, and proudly I say, "World, this is my son, Craig Rumble."

Love, Mom

Kathryn Johnson

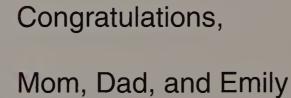

KC,

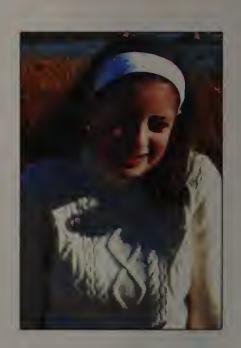

We love you so much and are very proud of the caring, talented person that you are.

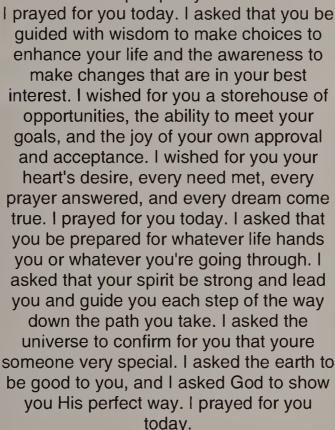

Joseph Osborne

I Prayed for You Today

I prayed for you today, gave thanks for your life, wished you the best, asked the heavens to bless you with good health and happiness. I sent you good thoughts, surrounded you with hope and faith and love. I asked your guardian angels to protect you and keep you safe from any harm and to blanket you with joy and contentment and peace and prosperity.

All that is gold does not glitter,
Not all those who wander are lost;
The old that is strong does not wither,
Deep roots are not reached by frost.
From ashes a fire shall be woken,
A light from the shadows shall spring;
Renewed shall be blade that was broken,
The crownless again shall be king.

Dear Colby,

Well, you finally graduated! I never had any doubts that you would. The rest of the family, however...just kidding! I'll miss you and our random outbursts of laughter at the dinner table when Mom and Dad look at us like we are insane, but we totally know what were laughing at. Thanks for always being there and for being my big sister. Good luck in everything you do. We're all very proud of you.

Love always, Kendall

Dear Patches,

I have seen you grow into a beautiful young lady with such a bright future. With a lot of hard work, perseverance, and patience, I know you will accomplish great things! I am so very proud of you!

Love, Mandie

Melissa,

Love you! Mom and Dad

Katherine Andersen

To Our Beautiful Daughter Katie,

Daddy and I both struggled trying to briefly express how you make us feel about all that you have accomplished both in school and after the bell, especially after we have heard and witnessed the respect and compassion that you show not only to those who surround you, but also to the various strangers that cross your daily path. We both quickly discovered that all you do, and all you have become, can never be minimized into one small paragraph.

We are both very excited for you as you embark on a new journey that includes new friends, a new environment, new experiences, and new memories. Never forget your old friends; bookmark your new experiences and memories and remember that home, where the door is always open, is where the heart is. Education, memories, and friends are three of the most valuable assets that no one can take from you, because only you have earned them.

Both Daddy and I have always believed as your parents that it was our responsibility to teach you to become all that you strive to be, but as we have watched you grow into a beautiful young lady that has overcome your own personal crisis from a divorce, encountered and conquered various health adversities relating to your diabetes, we realize that it was you who has taught us how to be the best that we can be, and push us to strive even further!

As you take your first solo flight into your new future, keep your head held high, keep your arms spread wide, and always remember to keep your legs strong so that you may always land on your feet!

We are so proud, and we love you with all our hearts,

Mom and Dad

The Glory of Love

You've got to give a little, take a little And let your poor heart break a little That's the story of, that's the glory

You've got to laugh a little, cry a little Before the clouds roll by a little That's the story of, that's the glory of love

As long as there are all of us, We've got the world and all its charms And when the world is through with us, we've got each others' arms

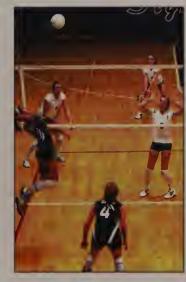

You've got to win a little, lose a little And always have the blues a little, That's the story of, that's the glory of love

Billy Hall

Shelby, you have learned to live these words, and you have taught us all a little about them these past few years. We hope you always find the glory in love and life. Here's to you.

Patrick Prendergast

A Noble Boy

The woman was old and feeble and grey,
And bent with the chill of the winter's day;
The street was wet with the recent snow,
And the woman's feet were weary and slow.
She stood at the crossing and waited long,
Alone, uncared for, amid the throng.
Down the street, with laughter and shout,
Glad in the freedom of 'school let out',
Came the boys, like a flock of sheep;
Hailing the snow, piled white and deep.
Past the woman, so old and grey,
Hastened the children on their way,
Nor offered a helping hand to her,
So meek, so timid, afraid to stir.

At last came one of the merry troop The gayest boy of all the group;
He paused beside her, and whispered low
'I'll help you across if you wish to go';
He guided the trembling feet along;
Proud that his own were firm and strong
Then back again to his friends, he went,
His young heart happy, and well content,
'She is somebody's mother, boys you know,
Although she is old and poor and slow,
And I hope some fellow will lend a hand
To help my mother - you understand If e'er she be poor and old and grey,
When her own dear boy is far away'.

And 'somebody's mother' bowed low her head, In her home that night, and the prayer she said Was, 'God be kind to the noble boy, Who is somebody's son, and pride, and joy.'

The Journey

One day you finally knew what you had to do, and began, though the voices around you kept shouting their bad advice-though the whole house began to tremble and you felt the old tug at your ankles. "Mend my life!" each voice cried. But you didn't stop. You knew what you had to do, though the wind pried with its stiff fingers at the very foundations, though their melancholy was terrible.

It was already late enough, and a wild night, and the road full of fallen branches and stones. But little by little, as you left their voices behind, the stars began to burn through the sheets of clouds. and there was a new voice which you slowly recognized as your own, that kept you company as you strode deeper and deeper into the world, determined to do the only thing you could do-determined to save the only life you could save.

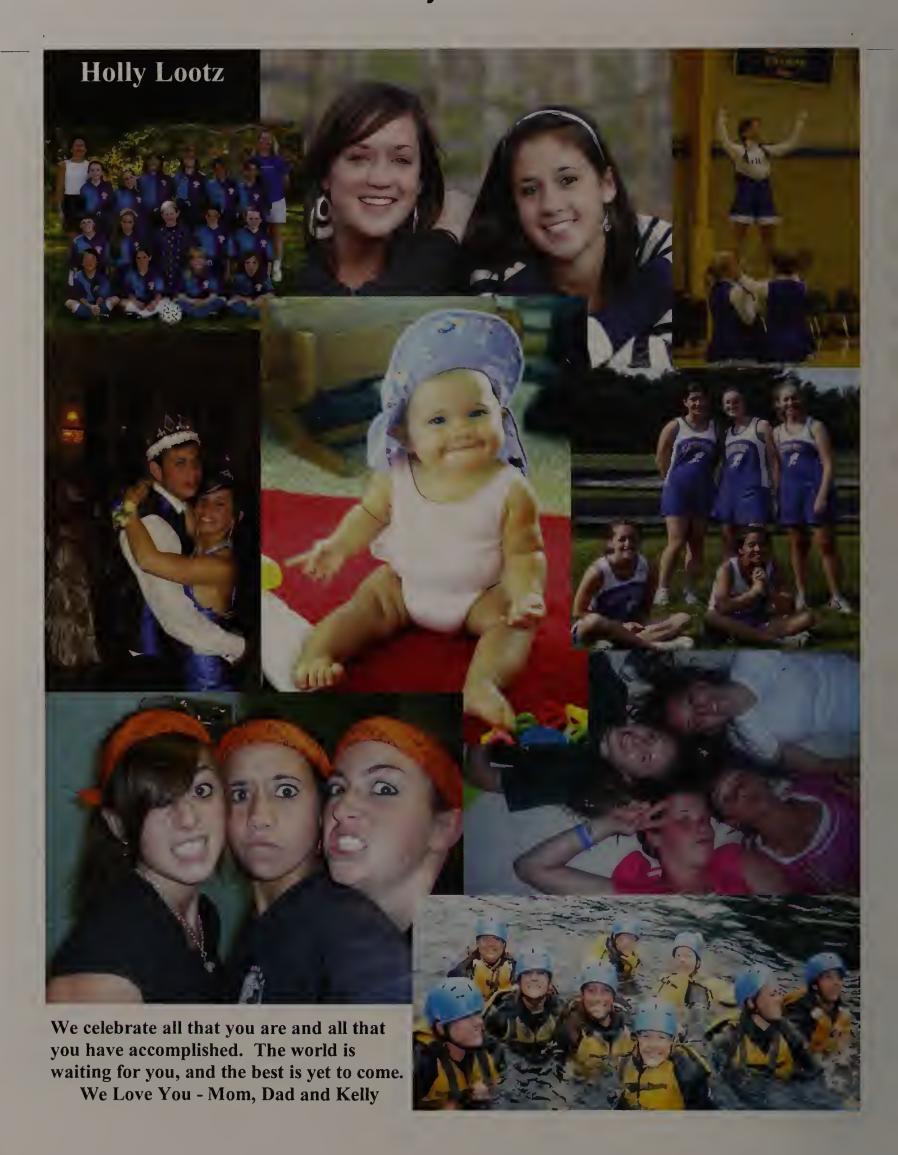

Mary Oliver

You've always been my pride and joy. I know you will do great things with your life.

I love you, Mum

Senior/Parent Dinner

Diana Cybulska wrote and performed the following untitled song at the variety show, dedicating it to her fellow seniors.

I won't regret the times with you
I know you won't forget them too
Our time has come and gone so fast
You stained my heart and I laugh your laugh

Your plans have changed since we've met You're out of town when the next sun sets Your things are packed and we'll say good-bye Let the new times roll but oh how time flies

And we will go to different places And we'll remember the love, lies and betrayals. When we look back all we'll do is smile, smile, smile Wishing that we'd never say good-bye

And I leave this town and the things I knew I keep this song and my old friends too I sweep the keys and my voice flows out I love this life and it all starts now

And we will go to different places
And we'll remember the love, lies and betrayals.
When we look back all we'll do is smile, smile, smile,
Wishing that we'd never say good-bye

Now look at me I am pale and gray Remember the days that I sang and played That little town way back home With the little bright-eyed girls and boys

Oh how I wish I could be like them And how I wish I could still pretend I miss that life and I miss those friends I'll remember you till the end.

And we will go to different places And we'll remember the love, lies and betrayals. When we look back all we'll do is smile, smile, Wishing that we'd never say good-bye

I won't regret the times with you
I know you won't forget them too
Our time has come and gone so fast
You stained my heart and I laugh your laugh
